

New AIA Contracts Just Released!

A Primer on the Changes that Will Affect All Contractors

Join us on December 17 at the Sheraton Harrisburg Hershey as we provide an overview of the changes and how they affect you.

Here's what we'll cover:

- Significant revisions to payment provisions
- Important changes to dispute resolution procedures
- New requirements for additional insurance coverage
- Increased owner ability to bypass general contractor and issue joint checks

Presented by:

Timothy J. Woolford, Esq.
Woolford Law, P.C.

Mr. Woolford has a rapidly growing construction law practice. His firm represents construction professionals in all aspects of the construction process, including project planning and approvals, contract creation and negotiation, consultation on day-to-day construction issues, claims preparation and defense and dispute resolution. Mr. Woolford is frequently involved in disputes regarding such matters as contract balance entitlement, acceleration, delay damages, inefficiency/productivity damages, change order disputes, improper liquidated damages assessments, bid protests and bid withdrawals. He also counsels clients on the prevention and defense of mold claims. Mr. Woolford is widely experienced in representing construction professionals in state and federal courts, mediation and arbitration proceedings before the American Arbitration Association and disputes before the Board of Claims. Mr. Woolford frequently lectures and publishes on AIA Contracts and counsels clients on contract negotiation and interpretation. Mr. Woolford is an Adjunct Professor of Law at the Dickinson School of Law where he teaches courses in Construction & Surety Law. He is a 2007 recipient of the Central Penn Business Journal's "Forty Under 40" award, which recognizes 40 emerging professionals for their professional success and community involvement.
